Description

Ballistol Universal Oil was developed in 1904 and has been manufactured in Germany using the same recipe ever since. Ballistol Universal Oil cleans, conditions, protects, removes and dissolves rust and removes residues such as resin from various surfaces. It can be used on wood, leather, stainless steel, iron, non-ferrous metals and oil-resistant rubber. As an all-purpose oil, it can be used in an incredibly versatile way - in professional and hobby workshops, industry and trade, cars and motorcycles, household and garden, fishing, sports, leather and gun care. All ingredients of Ballistol Universal Oil are extremely pure, of biological origin and are completely biodegradable. Ballistol Universal Oil base oil is medically pure, free of chlorinated hydrocarbons and free of animal substances. In addition, Ballistol Universal Oil is silicone, acid and resin free. This oil is suitable for the maintenance of machines and devices used in the food and beverage industry where contact with the product may occur. Ballistol Universal Oil has thousands of practical uses and new ones are always being discovered. You too can benefit from the benefits of original Ballistol Universal Oil.

Ballistol VarioFlex is the innovative spray head model from Ballistol.

VarioFlex impresses with its flexibility and ease of use. Many oil spray cans have a spray head that ejects a spray. Some are additionally equipped with a rigid spray pipe. Ballistol VarioFlex has a flexible spray hose that can be bent and adjusted individually. This is how you reach every place that is otherwise inaccessible. The VarioFlex sprays precisely and can be finely dosed.

If a larger area needs to be sprayed, the flexible spray hose is easy to fold down and the well-known, fine spray mist can be applied. A powerful solution with simple dual use, easy handling and a variety of applications. VarioFlex can be used on all Ballistol spray cans. Simply remove from the used can, put it on a new one and fix it with a short and strong blow from above. It is ready for action again. The large release surface facilitates dosing, even with gloves.

Made in Germany

Detailed information of usage:

METAL - It is successfully used in the production of machines, tools, precision equipment and scales. It forms a protective alkaline film on the surface of metals, neutralizes sweat and other acidic residues, preventing rust from building up. Due to its low surface tension, it is capable of creep, penetrating the finest gaps and fissures on metal surfaces. It cleans and makes silver and brass shiny. It is perfect for maintaining precision equipment

LEATHER - Ballistol Universal Oil effectively protects leather from getting hard and dry, from water, insects and fungi. Neutralizes residues of tannic acid. Softens dry leather and makes it elastic again, covering it in a dull shine. The typical smell of Ballistol Universal Oil will evaporate quickly and will not leave a greasy film on the leather.

WOOD - It protects, preserves and rejuvenates all natural wooden surfaces. It enhances the woodgraining and protects from humidity and insect damage. It is ideal for antique furniture.

PLASTICS - Ballistol Universal Oil maintains and protects soil-resistant synthetic material, preserves its elasticity and protects it from drying out and getting oburate. It preserves weatherstripped car doors in winter and renews the shine of synthetic surfaces without forming a greasy film.

SKIN AND FUR - It is kind to the skin and completely harmless if accidentally taken. Ideal for caring for animals and their fur, manes, hooves and cleaning their ears.

WEAPONRY - Ballistol Universal Oil protects from corrosion, lubricates, cleans and removes residues of gunpowder, lead, copper and tombac. It creeps into any gaps and fissures, thus removing dirt and old unsuitable resinified oils and neutralizes combustion residues. It cleans, maintains and preserves wood stock and leather gun straps.
