Description

As seen in famous Berghaus rucksacks, this buckle is incredibly reliable, easy to use and overall a really nice option for any rucksack's hip belt. Fits 50 mm / 2" webbing.

Especially for people who have ever seen snow, it's important to note that closing and opening this buckle doesn't involve any bending or other deformation of plastic, so there's extra little risk of this thing ever snapping. The design also makes it very easy to use even while wearing thick, clumsy mittens, which usually are called "no-can-doos".

Made by Berghaus.
