Description

As a compact outdoor knife that can either be worn as a neck knife or on the belt using the included belt adapter, the Piranha from Scott McGhee is a strong but small all-rounder. The full tang is exposed on the end of the handle scale to support convenient use of a fire starter. The heavy clip point blade is large enough for most outdoor chores, yet small enough for an exceedingly comfortable carry. The handle scales are made from two-tone G-10. Shipped with kydex sheath.
