Description

The properties which make the previous Sulaco with liner lock (designed by the Ram Maramba who has sadly passed away) so popular are its outstanding ergonomics, the massive blade, and the excellent price/performance ratio. We were able to keep all of this in the new version and add a frame lock and a handle made completely from titanium. A lock stop (which protects the locking mechanism from overstretching) is integrated into the locking spring. This blade is also made of the proven 440C. With clip.
