Other Useful Information

Historically, safety razors became popular in the late 19th and early 20th century, after centuries of straight razor dominance. While straight razors required honing, stropping, and significant skill to use safely, safety razors provided a far safer, more user-friendly alternative. Their protective combs and replaceable blades allowed men to shave at home without visiting a barber. This innovation revolutionized shaving worldwide, combining efficiency with reduced risk of cuts, and remains a symbol of classic grooming tradition.
