Description

Self-inflating mattress FIT 480 is one of the lightest mattresses in its class. Everything, from the anatomical shape to the valve type, is designed to minimize weight. The self-inflating mattress FIT 480 is an ideal solution for people who are looking for comfortable and lightweight camping gear. It is covered with an ultra-light material reinforced with a ripstop weave. The underside of the mattress is black, while the deep, dark green color on top discreetly blends in with the surroundings. BUSHMEN Travel Gear FIT mattresses are about 25% lighter than sleeping pads of the same size and about 20% lighter than other ultralight self-inflating mats with the same parameters. FIT mattresses are suitable both as insulation inside a Bivy bag (FIT 480 and FIT 600) or a tent, as well as for use in a hammock. Thanks to the rounded corners, the hammock can perfectly keep the mattress in place under the weight of the user, even when the sleeping person is moving around. The mattresses are equipped with well-known and tested one-way valves with a fast air release. This design ensures that both inflating and deflating the mattress is extremely easy. When packed, the FIT 480 travel mattress takes up very little space and thanks to compact dimensions, it can be easily taken on any trip.
