Description

In 1915, H. Böker & Co. in Solingen received the government order to develop a compact fighting knife, which had to be especially useful for the trench warfare. After 90 years this model has been reissued. The original blade is made of the non-stainless carbon steel C75, which is extremely sharp and requires the appropriate care. The massive stainless steel crossguard, the old official tang stamp on the blade, the ribbed wood handle and the authentic sheath made of high-quality leather are also part of the original equipment. The knives are marked with a serial number.
