Description

Self-confident, but with a discreet attitude. Dynamic, but with clear lines. Eccentric, but not too playful. Expressive strengths that the Boker Plus Collection 2023 lives with every breath. Strictly limited to 400 pieces worldwide, the collector's knife bears the unmistakable signature of US knifemaker Sal Manaro and is characterised by exceptional materials and design elements. Attributes that lure enthusiastic knife collectors all over the world out of their shells and confront them once again with the difficult question: Display case or pocket?

Equipped with a ball-bearing spearpoint blade made of MagnaCut (62-63 HRC) and a handle and all screws made of titanium, the Boker Plus Collection 2023 puts some serious horsepower on the road. The powder metallurgical steel was specially developed for knife blades and combines the essential requirements of high edge retention, toughness and rust resistance. The noble satin finish on the blade, which is opened with the removable thumb stud, provides the necessary understatement. The CNC-milled titanium handle offers many facets, which reliably secures the blade thanks to the solid framelock with an integrated stainless-steel inlay and overtravel stop. The suggestive bolster in the first third of the front handle is smooth, while the main part has a crosshair-like texture; secure grip and unique look included. The design language is rounded off by the ribbed backspacer, which promises a firm grip and consistently continues the Sal Manaro design concept. The visual highlight is the dazzling ring with Damascus-like patterning made of the titanium alloy Ti-Mascus, which surrounds the blade
