The Carinthia sleeping bag Brenta is an all-rounder with good thermal performance at a comfort range of -10° to -20°C. The Thermoflect layer reflects the heat radiation emitted by the body and thus allows better heat retention.

Description

The Carinthia sleeping bag Brenta is an all-rounder with good thermal performance at a comfort range of -4° to -30°C. The Thermoflect layer reflects the heat radiation emitted by the body and thus allows better heat retention. The sleeping bag has a cotton blend lining, a G-Loft® warmth collar and a G-Loft® zip bead.

The benefits of the highly insulating G-LOFT® filling is a three-dimensional hollow fiber fleece made of hollow, spiral fibers.

G-LOFT® is: light as a feather, highly insulating and compressible to a small size. In addition to these advantages, which are similar to those of down, there is another decisive advantage: the G-LOFT® synthetic fiber is insensitive to moisture and wetness. This means that its insulating properties are largely retained even when damp, and it dries out again quickly. An invaluable advantage for every use

Details:

- good thermal performance with a small pack size,
- Inner lining made of cotton blend fabric,
- lined thermal collar for comfortable sleeping climate,
- inner thermal panel filled with insulation material to avoid cold bridges,
- Thermoflect technology reflects the heat radiation emitted by the body,
