Snigel Braces v2.0 – Tactical Pants Suspenders

The Snigel Braces v2.0 are practical tactical suspenders designed to keep your trousers securely in place during active use. They are especially useful in winter conditions, when extra layers and heavier gear can make waist belts less comfortable or less stable.

Inspired by the classic US Army braces from the 1950s, this system attaches to the sides of the trousers. You thread the braces around the belt or through the trouser bands, creating a stable carry that works well with field clothing and load-bearing equipment.

A key advantage in real use: when you need to answer nature's call, you can simply release the braces at the sides and pull down the trousers without removing a vest or padded jacket. The v2.0 update adds a hook that makes attaching the braces to your trousers quicker and easier.

Key Features

- Purpose: Keeps tactical trousers securely in place
- Best for: Cold weather, layered clothing, active movement

ORDER CONFIRMATION

- Design inspiration: US Army braces (1950s style)
- Attachment: Side attachment to trousers; thread around belt or through trouser bands
- Convenient quick release: Release sides to lower trousers without removing outer gear
- Version 2.0 upgrade: Added hook for easier attachment
- Weight: approx. 100 g

Use Notes

- Thread the braces around your belt or through the bands on your trousers, then attach at the sides.
- For quick restroom access in the field, release the side attachment points and pull down the trousers.
- Check attachment points before movement-heavy tasks (running, climbing, kneeling) to ensure a secure fit.

Safety & Warnings

- Always ensure the braces are correctly attached before strenuous activity to avoid sudden release.
- Keep the hook and attachment points free of dirt/ice for reliable fastening in cold weather.
- Do not use as a lifting or dragging strap.

FAQ
