Description

The traditionally manufactured Franciska Throwing Axe by Condor pays homage to the notorious and feared ancient Franconian throwing axe called "Franziska". The rough-forged sides of the curved axe head made of 1060 carbon steel are just as authentic as the slightly curved short handle of flamed American hickory. To ensure a precise throw, handle does not have a butt or lanyard hole. A handmade leather sheath completes the overall look.

- Overall length: 47,2 cm
- Blade length: 8,4 cm
- Weight: 560 g
- Blade material: 1060 carbon steel
- Handle material: Hickory wood
