Description

We are pleased to present yet another new version of our bestseller F1, now with a blade in the new special steel Lam. VGWolf (VG7). It differs from other stainless special steels by its unusually high content of tungsten (1.25%) and it leads to a knife that keeps the sharpness better than most and is a little stronger. The first 1000 pcs will be marked "Test Series". At the same time, we add the newly developed X-sheath to the new F1Wolf model, a smart, secure plastic sheath with a two way locking mechanism and without a strap around the handle. The old plastic sheath will be sold as an extra accessory until the stock runs out.

The Fallkniven F1 is the official survival knife Swedish Air Force pilots since 1995. A new world standard was set with the F1 through attention to important details including technical design, ergonomics and economy. The Fallkniven F1 surpasses international standards for strength, personal security capabilities, and value for money.

The Fallkniven F1 represents a new philosophy with respect to knives for survival use. The F1 successfully combines the experience of generations of knife manufacturing with the most modern technology and forging.

The well thought-out design and incredibly tough laminated steel are only two of the many details making the handy-sized Fallkniven F1 a knife you
