ORDER CONFIRMATION

The Rayet Hybrid 350E is designed for users who find traditional mummy bags restrictive. The wider foot box allows more natural movement during sleep, improving overall comfort.

At the same time, the thermal hood and shoulder baffle help retain heat, ensuring effective insulation even in cooler temperatures.

Construction and Materials

- Filling: 350 g/m² double-layer synthetic insulation
- Composition: 40% siliconised hollow fibre, 60% polyester
- Outer shell: 210T polyester ripstop (water-repellent)
- Lining: 190T pongee

Synthetic insulation retains warmth even when damp and dries quickly, making it suitable for humid or variable conditions.

Features and Practical Details

- Internal security pocket
- Compression stuff sack included
- Hanging loops for storage and drying
- Compact packing and good loft recovery

FAQ

What makes this a hybrid sleeping bag? Efficiency with a wider foot box for increased comfort and movement.

How does it compare to the Defender 350? Comfort, while the Defender 350 focuses more on a traditional mummy shape and maximum heat retention.

Is it suitable for cold weather? Yes, but for colder temperatures a 4-season sleeping bag is recommended.
