Description

The Magnum Rekin takes the predatory fish's hunting instinct and adds daily cutting jobs to its prey scheme. The ball-bearing drop point blade made of 440A is extremely snappy with a thumb stud and flipper on both sides and is given additional aggressiveness by the pronounced ricasso on the back of the blade. Once in the clutches of the blade and stainless steel liner lock, cardboard, rope and the like have no chance of escaping. The gray micarta handle has a scale-like structure, which is based on the skin of sharks. The optical highlight is the blade axle screw with a blue border, which underlines the elegant appearance of the pocket knife. With lanyard hole and tip-up clip (r).
