Description

Bore snake RifleCX

Used to clean the barrel of a very dirty gun barrel foam and then rinse (neutralize) them with gun cleaner (Gun Cleaner) or gun oil (Care Spray). To remove all the remaining dirt and dry the barrel - use the barrel rope (in case you don't have a mop handle and brushes with you). A minimum of 3 rounds (passing the barrel rope through the barrel 3x) is required to achieve a satisfactory result.

RifleCX barrel ropes are characterized by the fact that both ends can be joined (bolted) together to form a closed loop, thus ensuring that the barrel rope can be pulled through the barrel multiple times in a circle. The barrel rope should always be inserted from the chamber end and pulled in the direction of bullet flight. The barrel rope should be pulled parallel to the barrel, pulling it out at an angle can damage the crown (end) of the barrel.

Parameters:

- Two bronze barrel cleaning brushes are embedded in the barrel rope.
